

Fisheries Roads

The Fisheries Department has actively intervened in the development and improvement of road infrastructure across the coastal belt with the objective of ensuring better connectivity and supporting livelihood activities. The primary aim of these interventions is to develop durable, all-weather fishery roads that provide seamless access to all marine fishing villages. Enhanced road connectivity not only facilitates faster and safer transportation of fish and related goods but also opens new avenues for trade, business, and tourism in the coastal region. By reducing the hardship faced by fisherfolk in transporting and vending fish, these initiatives significantly contribute to improving their income levels and living standards. Ultimately, the fisheries road development projects play a crucial role in promoting the overall economic and social development of coastal communities.
